

Alan Long Senior Product Designer

I use AI workflows from structure to craft: information architecture, design systems, UX and visual execution. A front-end background means I know how the work ships. Five years inside product teams, clients include Google, Mercedes-Benz and GSK.

Experience

Interbrand Design agency

Senior Product Designer, 2021 – 2025

Led product design and design systems across complex B2B and B2C products.

GSK: Shipped 5 products; trust earned resulted in my leading of their first company-wide design system.

Core design system, a company-wide design system; adopted by 5/5 product teams; 500+ tokens enable colour and density modes; solved brand accessibility issues. Designed and built it in Figma.

Brandhub, the company's internal DAM and brand-guidelines platform.

Medical Affairs portal for healthcare professionals, covering medical information across all therapeutic areas. NA, EMEA and APAC versions.

GSK Direct a US B2B vaccine-ordering platform. A flu-season dashboard covering orders, contracts and invoices.

GSK AUREA antimicrobial-resistance data tool for clinicians.

Mercedes-Benz: Overhauled their ad planning platform. Now rolling out across Europe after a strong test-market reception.

~80% reduction in settings per scenario, with visualisations now updating live.

Improved IA; 15 discrete tools became 3 stages that mirror the planning process.

Jefferies: Increased Tradu's conversion by reducing onboarding time by ~45 seconds.

11 taps removed from onboarding, reducing drop-off

Refined the design system, improving usability and accessibility; enabled light mode

Samsung: Audited their direct-to-consumer experience, a part of Interbrand's brand valuation report.

Led to improvements across US/UK website, SmartThings app and shop app; covered IA, CX, UX.

Internal leadership at Interbrand

Product-design team's representative advising the CEO and exec team on AI's impact; on senior leadership AI roundtable, featured in Best Global Brands 2023.

Co-led new AI workflows across London office resulting in: better collaboration, lower handoff cost, one source of truth across product and brand.
